COMMUNITY GROUP TO HOST MOVIE SCREENING OF “LITTLE PINK HOUSE” IN MOUNT PLEASANT

MT. PLEASANT, WI May 4, 2018 - Local community organization, “A Better Mt. Pleasant” will host an exclusive, one night only showing of Little Pink House, on Wednesday, June 6, 2018 at the Marcus Renaissance Cinema in Sturtevant at 6:30 pm.

Little Pink House is the story of how Susette Kelo fought the government to save her home from eminent domain and lost, triggering the landmark US Supreme Court opinion in Kelo vs. City of New London. The film stars Catherine Keener and Jeanne Tripplehorn and has received overwhelmingly positive reviews by film critics and is rated 93% “fresh” on Rotten Tomatoes - a popular movie rating website.

“Hollywood has come to Mount Pleasant to tell story of homeowners being forced to sell their homes to make way for Foxconn,” according to Kelly Gallaher, a spokesperson for “A Better Mt. Pleasant.” “The timing of this film’s release could be more relevant and we are pleased to host this exclusive screening.”

The film screening will be followed by a Q&A session on how the Village of Mount Pleasant is resorting to similar tactics to take valuable farmland and well-maintained homes so they can give the property to Foxconn.

Tickets for this event are $12 each and must be purchased in advance through Tugg online tickets by May 30, 2018.

A Better Mt. Pleasant is a nonpartisan, community organization dedicated to advancing a fair, accountable and transparent local government in Mount Pleasant, Wisconsin.
